

-----
Title: Catechetical Lectures

Author: Lady LaBelle Decantor
-----

Fifth Lesson

The postulate of a Government can best be considered as the principle Truth.
Is Truth an axiom of Governance?

That it is, and falsely so. Truth requires the populace to acknowledge the existence of a Government and place

faith in its command
before consummation of Truth can be granted.
What are the conditions of authenticity?

The conditions of authenticity include but are not limited by the following; doctrines
presented are succinct,

without distortion;
decisions made with
evidence towards the benefit of a populace;
authoritative leadership;
formal operations.

How can a Government be regarded as a Truthful Governing body?

A Government holds the positive esteem of its populace when it is prevalent; as it makes viable salutary
determinations on behalf of its entire populace;

and when it's leadership is expert in meeting the needs of it's populace.

When is verity
imperative?

At all times,
unconditionally, inevitably,
and without pause.
What is the precept of Truth in Governance?

The uplifting, prosperity safety and accomplishment of its people.

In Virtue,

~Lady LaBelle Decantor~